What is verification?

Each year we will select a sample of revalidation applications and request further information or evidence from you if you are selected to verify information in your revalidation application. This verification is an important part of assessing the effectiveness of the revalidation process; it is not designed to catch you out. If you are selected for verification this does not mean there are any concerns about your application and you can continue to practise as normal while we review the information you provide.

What will I be asked to do?

You will need to provide us with further information about your revalidation application via NMC Online. You will not need to upload documents or send in your portfolio as part of this process. However, we may request further evidence in some cases, so it is important that you keep all of your revalidation evidence safe.

Health and characterYou will not need to provide any further information or evidence about your health and character as part of verification, unless you have declared a police charge, caution, conviction or conditional discharge, or a determination from another regulatory body. If this is the case we will contact you separately by email and let you know what additional information is required. You will still need to engage in the verification process as well.

Confirmation
You will not need to upload a copy of the signed confirmation form but you should retain a copy for your records.
We will contact your confirmer using the email address you provided us in your application. Please ensure your confirmer is aware that if they do not respond to our request for verification, they may put your registration at risk.

When will I know if I have been selected for verification?
We will notify you within 24 hours of you submitting your application. Please make sure you check your emails regularly once you have submitted your application so that you do not miss this notification, including checking your junk folders. Your registration will not be renewed until the verification process is complete.

How long will the verification process take?
You will need to complete the online form within 21 days of receiving your notice that you have been selected for verification. Please note that your registration will not lapse during the verification process, even if the process extends past your renewal date. We will hold your registration effective until the verification process is complete, and you can continue to practise as normal during this time.

Depending on the information you provide we may need to contact you again to ask you for more evidence. Please make sure you check your emails regularly, and respond to any requests for further information within the timeframe provided. If you are unable to provide sufficient information in support of your application for revalidation, then the renewal of your registration may be at risk.

The verification process will be completed within three months of your renewal date, and in most cases much sooner than this.

Why have I been selected for verification?
A sample of revalidation applications will be selected for verification every year. These selections are made at random. If you are selected for verification this does not mean that there are any concerns about your application. You can continue to practise as normal while we review the information you provide.

What checks will the NMC be doing?
We will check that you have met the practice hours requirements with relevant experience in a role or roles where you are relying on your skills, knowledge and experience as a nurse, midwife or nursing associate. We may contact your employer to verify the information you provided in your application. Based on the additional information you provide we will also check that you have undertaken 35 hours of CPD (including at least 20 hours of participatory learning) which is relevant to your scope of practice.

We will check the information you provided about your professional indemnity arrangement, and we may ask you to justify any decisions you have made about the cover you have in place.

Finally, we will contact your confirmer for further information about the discussion. We will contact them by email in the first instance, using the contact details you provided in your initial application. Please ensure your confirmer is aware that if they do not respond to our request for response...

2 Please contact us if your confirmer requires a reasonable adjustment to the way in which we contact them.
for verification, they may put your registration at risk. We may also contact your reflective discussion partner and we will always check that the information you gave in your application about your reflective discussion partner is consistent with the information we have on the register.

If we identify that you have not met the revalidation requirements, or you submit fraudulent information, your registration might be at risk. Please note that if you do not engage fully with the verification process your registration could lapse and you would have to apply for readmission.

What happens if you can’t contact my confirmer?

We will contact your confirmer by email and if they do not respond within two weeks we will send them a reminder. We will also email you and ask you to contact your confirmer directly and let them know we are waiting for a response from them. If we still do not hear from your confirmer we may ask you to have your confirmation discussion again with a different confirmer.

In cases where we cannot contact a confirmer, we will discuss the reasons with you. We will ensure that you have a reasonable amount of time to either make contact with the confirmer yourself, or seek confirmation from another appropriate person.

Verification appeals

The majority of nurses, midwives and nursing associates who we select for verification will renew their registration successfully. However, there are a number of situations where this may not happen. In most of these situations, if we refuse your renewal at verification you have the right to appeal our decision.

If you are selected for verification, we will request further information from you so that we can check to make sure you’ve met the revalidation requirements. You do not have a right to appeal if you do not provide us with the information requested at verification.

Below outlines four situations where we could refuse an application for renewal at verification and explains your right to appeal for each:

A. The information you provided at verification does not meet the revalidation requirements.

If you are selected for verification and you provide us with the information request at verification but this information fails to show us you have met the revalidation requirements, we will refuse your application for renewal. In this situation you have a right to appeal.

B. The information you provided at verification is insufficient to determine whether you meet the revalidation requirements.

If you are selected for verification and you provide us with the information requested for verification but what is contained in this information is not sufficient for us to determine if you have met the revalidation requirements, we will refuse your application for renewal. In this situation you have a right of appeal.

C. You did not provide any of the information requested at verification.

If you are selected for verification and you do not provide us with any of the information requested, we will refuse your application for renewal. In this situation, you do not have a right to appeal.

D. We are unable to contact your confirmer.

If you provide us with the name and contact details of your confirmer but we are unable to contact them, we will request you to find another confirmer and provide us with their details. If we are still unable to contact your confirmer we will refuse your application for renewal. In this situation you will have a right to appeal.
